This volume features a body of work selected by Craig A. Evans, B. J. Oropeza, and Paul T. Sloan, designed to examine just what is meant by "intertextuality," including metalepsis and the controversial and exciting approach known as "mimesis." Beginning with an introduction from Oropeza that orients readers in a complex and evolving field, the contributors first establish the growing research surrounding the discipline before examining important texts and themes in the New Testament Gospels and epistles. Throughout, these essays critically evaluate new proposals relating to intertextuality and the function of ancient Scripture in the writings that eventually came to comprise the New Testament. With points of analysis ranging from multidimensional recontextualization and ancient Midrash in the age of intertextuality to Luke's Christology and multivalent biblical images, this volume amasses cutting-edge research on intertextuality and biblical exegesis. A Comprehensive Guide Springer Science & Business Media Safe, efficient, code-compliant electrical installations are made simple with the latest publication of this widely popular resource. A comprehensive learning text written specifically for education majors. The course has long been a staple item in the masters level curriculum, but in recent years is beginning to occasionally show up in the undergraduate curriculum. This usually occurs when the old educational psychology survey course has been abandoned due to curriculum reform.

Iron Curtain Calls contains two titles that lead back to the Russia of the last century. In the surrealist novel Iron Curtain Calls, an author and his friends are among the many repatriated Armenians in the Caucasus. They arrive at a time when antagonisms begin anew between Armenia and its neighboring rival. This shock is exceeded only by the culture shock of finding that local Armenians are not the adorable, charming people familiar to them in the Diaspora but a serious, overworked, unamused race. It is only crisis that brings a varied nation together and untangles the personal affairs of the protagonists. Like Night and Day is a lyrical play about Petersburg, the region of summer midnight sun and winter noonday darkness. It is this inequity that stirs the principal characters of the play and drives them to modern revolution. 2007-2010.

Corinthians CRC Press Situated Literacies is a rich and varied collection of key writings from leading international scholars in the field of literacy. Each contribution, written in a clear, accessible style, makes the link between literacies in specific contexts and broader social practices. Detailed ethnographic studies of a wide variety of specific situations, all involving real texts and lived practices, are balanced with general claims about the nature of literacy. Contributors address a coherent set of issues: * the visual and material aspects of literacy * concepts of time and space in relation to literacy * the functions of literacies in shaping and sustaining identities in communities of practice * the relationship between texts and the practices associated with their use the role of discourse analysis on literacy studies These studies, along with a foreword by Denny Taylor, make a timely and important contribution to literacy theory and suggest directions for the further development of the field. Situated Literacies is essential reading for anyone involved in literary education.

Once Bitten, Twice Shy
New book tells a story of love, loss and the invisible scars left behind by betrayal
Albany, GA - Once bitten, twice shy...

When a woman falls in love and gets hurt, in time she would move on. But she will never heal from or forget The Betrayal of a Man.

Author Tabitha R.

Mathis weaves a web of love, betrayal and loss in a story that will captivate readers. Dark skinned, pretty, and sexy Taquasia has long shiny black hair and hails from Miami, Florida—a city with the most beautiful beaches, the most exotic strip clubs and the best Caucasian food. The eldest of four children, she is best friends with Jaliya, Dre, and Tay. Taquasia was loved by many, but she only chose to love one. At the age of thirteen, she met a handsome, dark skinned guy named James. He was every young girl's dream, including Taquasia's. When Taquasia met James on November 7, 1991, he told her that he was in high school. When he said he was eighteen years old, she believed him. He was so charming that he could make any girl believe anything he said. Taquasia only realized this too late when she was already head over heels in love with him. And then he betrayed her. Will she ever forgive James' betrayal? Readers can find out as they discover the invisible scars left behind by The Betrayal of a Man. For more information on this book, log on to www.Xlibris.com.

"This book examines the political economy of violence in the Rio de Janeiro favela of Rocinha. Based on over two years of research and residence in the community, it offers an ethnographic account of how entangled forms of violence become essential forces shaping everyday social relations in the favela. The first part of the book shows how armed actors--drug traffickers and police--use spectacle to perform power. Yet despite the prevalence of physical violence, the favela has itself become a valuable global brand, consumed in disembodied fashion through media and in embodied fashion through tourism.

Exploring media and favela tourism, the second part of the book demonstrates how the social relationships that arise from ongoing favela violence have a direct relationship to the market economy"-- Provided by publisher.

"Having been born a freeman, and for more than thirty years enjoyed the blessings of liberty in a free State—and having at the end of that time been kidnapped and sold into Slavery, where I remained, until happily rescued in the month of January, 1853, after a bondage of twelve years—it has been suggested that an account of my life and fortunes would not be uninteresting to the public." -an excerpt Situated Literacies John Wiley & Sons

Forged in 1975, the relationship between Brazil and Mozambique has sparked debate in the international relations arena, especially with the ProSavana project that showed massive corruption in both countries. Brazil and Mozambique: Forging New Partnerships or Developing Dependency? examines the degree to which these relations complement or diverge from Brazil's interactions with other African countries. It argues that, although influenced by the context and conjunction of each country, these interactions have followed the same logic and trends. Two-way trade is surging and at the same time the range of reactions to Brazil's economic involvement across Africa has varied from enthusiastic embrace by elites to caution from businesses, trade unions and civil society, and even hostility from some local communities. It ends with a look at the future of the relationship, especially in the light of the dramatic political changes within Brazil and the equally disruptive economic challenges it faces, alongside the problems experienced recently in Mozambique.

The FASB Statements of Financial Accounting Concepts contains the full text of five of the six Statements of Financial Accounting Concepts issued to date. The existing concepts are intended to serve the public interest by setting the objectives, qualitative characteristics, and other concepts that guide selection of economic events to be recognized and measured for financial reporting. Unlike a Statement of Financial Accounting Standards, a Statement of Financial Accounting Concepts does not establish generally accepted Accounting Principles.
